Embracing the Unknown

Humanity is in a period of rapid change. Old ways are breaking down in our inner and outer worlds. This season of Living the Path will explore what it takes to release the familiar, embrace the unknown and find the courage to make the unknown known.

Our exploration will examine the emotional reactions to uncertain aspects of life so that we can meet the unknown as a part of our human experience in a benign universe and embrace the greater truth of who we are.

“Without assurances of the outcome, you will have to venture into an unknown land where you believe in the positive, where you assert your faith in the ever benign universe, where you express the truth that all possibilities exist.”
