

A YEAR ACCORDING TO THE GUIDE

A Year-Long Graduate Group

Most of the Guide's lectures were provided in a sequence from September to June with a break over the summer, much like our own academic calendar. In this class, we will follow a particular year, studying the lectures in the order the Guide delivered them.

Open to graduate students (anyone who has completed the Transformation Program), this year-long class will allow us to explore the particular concepts and themes of each lecture at deeper levels with the support of an ongoing group.

It will also enable us to benefit from the overall direction that the Guide points to and supports through the specific sequence of lectures.

“Lectures come in sequences, which then apparently stop and switch to a new emphasis. And yet all these topics and sequences form one whole, an ongoing chain or spiral, as all universal movements are spiral movements if they are in harmony with creation.”
